"The true difference between languages is not in what may or may not be expressed but in what must or must not be conveyed by the speaker." - R. Jakobson

Introduction

My name is Thanh Viet Cao (Vietnamese: "Cao Thành Việt"). I am a seventh-year PhD candidate at the Graduate Institute of Linguistics, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan. Before that, I got both a B.A. and an M.A. in linguistics from the Faculty of Linguistics, University of Social Sciences and Humanities, Vietnam National University (VNU, Hanoi). My main research interests include semantics, pragmatics, and syntax of classifier languages in light of formal approaches, i.e., model-theoretical semantics and comparative syntax within the framework of generative grammar. I have just defended my PhD dissertation (title: Quantification, Plurality at the Interface: The case of Vietnamese) on May 14th, 2025, under the supervision of Dr. I-Ta Chris Hsieh. My thesis mainly touches upon strategies of universal quantification (involving the four D-quantifiers tất-cả, cả, mọi, mỗi) and plurality (involving các, những) in Vietnamese from compositional and cross-linguistic perspectives. Besides, language contact among MSEA languages from historical linguistics aspects, especially the historical lexicology (i.e., etymology) of the Vietnamese lexicon, always attracts my attention from time to time.
